Camp Objectives:

The Superskills basketball shooting camps are designed for the serious basketball player looking to improve their skills and learn the proper fundamentals to excel in the “art of shooting”. This specific skill camp includes detailed instruction on the basics of shooting, provides analysis, introduces competitive shooting drills, and will establish practice patterns that guarantee success. We will only take a MAXIMUM of 15 players per session so the instruction will be detailed, small group, and intense for maximum use of our time together. We recommend getting registration in quickly to assure your spot.

Instructional Topics

- Proper placement of shooting hand and balance of hand on the ball
- Timing aspect of legs, arms, and hands in the release of the ball
- Eliminating negative motion of the arms and legs when shooting
- Shooting preparation & correct footwork
- Proper footwork while shooting on the move, off screens, and off the dribble
- Developing shooting habits and proper warm-up techniques
- Being “shot ready”

Dear Friends,

“Super Skills” is a basketball camp for those who are seriously aspiring to become outstanding young players. The instruction provided will be at a finer, more detailed level, focusing on very specific skills, fundamentals, and techniques involved with Shooting the basketball properly.

My desire to coach and teach young people about the game of basketball began to take root during my own high school playing days at Youngstown Liberty, and then further blossomed after my experiences playing college basketball at Stanford University. In high school I played for my father, Bob Patton Sr., who has won over 300 games and is still widely considered one of the top coaches in Ohio. In college, I played for one of the finest teachers in the country in Mike Montgomery. Coach Montgomery transformed Stanford into a perennial Top 10 program, and was named the head coach of the Golden State Warriors of the NBA in 2004 and current coach of Cal Bears.

As a result of all that I have learned and applied over the years, I am confident that I have developed an outstanding basketball skills teaching format for young players. Throughout my extensive camp/teaching experiences, I have had the opportunity to develop many players who have gone on to very successful high school and college careers. And I’m always grateful for and excited about having the chance to work with young players eager to develop “super skills”!

Sincerely,
Bob Patton Jr.
